SUTHERLAND REFUSES TO BE "ROOSEVELT"

Writes a Letter to Be Read in the Republican State Convention Reiterating Declination to Run.

Devine and Grant Plan Combine to Pull Out Something—Friends of the Hon. Bill Smile

(Special to The Herald From a Staff Correspondent.)

Provo, Sept. 3.—At midnight it is learned that Sutherland has entrusted a letter to one of his friends in the Salt Lake delegation, fully explaining his reasons for refusing to allow his name to go before the convention for the congressional nomination. Its contents have not been made public, but in it he asks his friends to leave him out of the race entirely.

The communication is addressed to the Republican state convention, and will be read tomorrow.

Mr. Sutherland yesterday said to a friend in Salt Lake that he does not "want" the nomination, and added that he thought the letter would settle the matter for all time.

All of which places those who have been active for him in a state of aggravated perplexity.

Rumors and contradictions of rumors float around and the limit is about reached. The Sutherland letter, however, seems to be final.

With a plea such as this missive is supposed to be once before the body, the wise men say they cannot see how the convention can go to work and nominate the man who begs off so persistently and so earnestly.

Devine and Grant May Pool.

Devine and Grant have reached the point where they profess little anxiety over the "Roosevelt" feature. They will combine their Salt Lake county interests, if necessary, and in that way they hope to make Sutherland resign the moment his name was proposed.

They claim to be able to do it without difficulty. There is a certain amount of sentiment, they say, and Sutherland cannot be nominated by acclamation, if at all, should Grant and Devine pool their votes. The latter, however, is not so sure of himself. He is willing to throw his support Devinewards in order to shut out the lawyer, who is convinced, there is no hope for himself.

Situation Changes Every Hour.

Every hour there is some development in the congressional fight, and the most unexpected will very likely happen. The delegates who arrived this afternoon include Salt Lake, Weber, Sanpete, Sevier, Piute, Uintah, Beaver, Juab and Kane counties. They are here on the Heber train in the morning, and the rest will come in a special car for the time set for the opening of the circus.

George E. Goodwin, who is Arthur Brown's candidate for supreme judge, pitted against the delegates who arrived from Salt Lake on the last train tonight, and is prepared for the struggle.

B. B. Haywood was one of the first rosters to the Sutherland stampede.

STAMPEDE IS PLANNED.

Leaders Are Determined to "Roosevelt" Sutherland.

(Special to The Herald From a Staff Correspondent.)

Provo, Sept. 3.—Expressions from party leaders tonight were that Sutherland would be nominated for congress in spite of himself.

The original scheme to stampede the convention for the Sutherland nomination was declared, would go through almost without opposition. The delegates to this effect were sent out by nearly all the heads of the various delegations who are here, and some have gone so far as to wire for instructions, saying that those who have been urged by their constituency to support certain candidates.

The great change that seemed to have taken place in Sutherland's attitude was said here to have been brought about by the Sutherland camp. As some delegates look at it, Sutherland is a man of many political ambitions for the future, and he was threatened into giving his word that he nominated he would make the race. Others had it that the convention simply would not take "No" for an answer, and that while Sutherland still maintains his advertised position, he would avoid making the race if the nomination were forced upon him. The state committee stated this as the real situation tonight.

Hon. Bill Alone Is Cheerful.

The Grant henchmen realize they are up against it, and over at Devine's headquarters they are having hard time to look cheerful.

But as to the Hon. Bill, he is crowded with Weber county delegates, who aver over and over their ability to stay with the honor. Mr. E. W. Walker, the eagle's man, is jubilant at 9 o'clock this evening.

"This talk about Sutherland doesn't phase us," said he. "We are going to nominate everybody in this state. The here this afternoon are almost unanimous for Mr. Glasman, and we have sent in our names more than 30 per cent. We have a decided majority in the county, and will elect the person we do not profess to say yet."

Like the other congressional candidate to be the first order of business after the committee reports, Bill that all Weber "wants" is the congressional nomination.

Free Lancers Fear a Contract.

Another question with regard to Sutherland's candidacy, and a very important one, is being discussed by the "free" lancers, who style themselves "Provo" with a great deal of concern. That is his connection with the legal firm of Bennett, Har-

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH: TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1900

WAS GREAT DAY FOR LABOR CRAFT

Elaborate Celebrations at Ogden and Lagoon.

IMMENSE PARADE AT JUNCTION CITY

Thousands of People Participate—Clam Bake.

The greatest celebration of Labor day ever held in Ogden, or probably anywhere in Utah, took place yesterday under the auspices of the International Order of Machinists. The local lodge had general direction of the affair. The machinists had been working for weeks and everything possible lodges each having about an equal number of men in line. Preceding them was a float containing a lot of comely children, who rode under a banner explaining that though orphans they were not without funds or friends, as their fathers had been members of the A. O. U. W.

The representatives of the Ladies of the Macabees occupied Graham's tally-ho.

Next came Evanston Union lodge of machinists, the Pocatello order of machinists making a phalanx of imposing size.

Held's band from Salt Lake led the Salt Lake union of machinists, who were followed by their Ogden brethren and the Women's Relief corps ladies in carriages.

The local business house floats were the next in order, and in this section some very clever and artistic work was done.

"The Hub" clothing store had a float of white groundwork, with flowered letters, and a big hub in the center surrounded by palms and plants.

C. D. Ives, clothier, had an attractive display, his float being draped with red, white, green and blue bands.

Rosenbluth & Opman came next with an artistic display. Jennings, Last & Thomas had an attractive dress goods counter displaying $1,000 worth of goods.

Clerks and customers were busy selling and buying.

Fred K. Rose & Co. had a number of wagons displaying their various lines of goods.

The Becker Brewing company's float received hearty applause from the crowd. It represented Columbia in a handsome boudoir attended by pages.

BRYAN AND ROOSEVELT ON THE SAME PLATFORM

Both Review Labor Day Parade in Chicago and Later Make Addresses to the Crowds.

Democrat Discusses Ways For Workingmen to Improve Conditions—Republican Defends Organized Wealth.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Organized labor in Chicago today passed in review before

Colonel W. J. Bryan and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Hour after hour the labor unions marched down Michigan avenue past the Auditorium hotel, on the loggia of which stood the Democratic nominee for president and the Republican vice presidential candidate, together with Senator William E. Mason and a dozen other political leaders.

Both Bryan and Roosevelt were heartily greeted by the men as they marched past the hotel. When the last man of the long line of marchers had swung round Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard, Colonel Bryan and Colonel Roosevelt were inside the hotel, where soon after they sat down to a luncheon given by labor representatives.

It was a "flag of truce" luncheon, for the trades union men had decided that in the celebration of Labor day there was to be no politics.

While the parade was moving, a host of people, mostly the families of workingmen, gathered in Electric park, where the speeches of the day were delivered. The programme of speeches was as follows:

From 2 to 3 p. m. Governor Roosevelt, Samuel A. Schuler, Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois; Richard Yates, the Republican gubernatorial nominee; William E. Mason, Mayor of Milwaukee; Mayor Harrison of Chicago, R. M. Patterson and P. H. O'Donnell, to speak in the order named; 4 p. m., Colonel Bryan.

This evening there was more speaking, concluding with an address by John P. Finerty.

Colonel Roosevelt left here late this evening and Colonel Bryan at 8 o'clock. The latter took the Baltimore & Ohio for Cumberland, Md., where he will open the campaign in that state tomorrow.

Bryan's Speech.

Discussing the question of how the wage earner could secure that share of earth's bounties and the government's protection he desires, Mr. Bryan said:

"The associations formed by working men have been productive of much good."

The labor organization as we now find it is the product of industrial conditions. The individual found himself disoriented when dealing with the corporate employer, and the organization not only enables him to contend for his rights upon terms more nearly equal than he could otherwise have secured, but it also enables him to study to understand the conditions which surround him.

The labor organization has been foremost in advocating the reform which have already been secured. Several years ago the secret ballot was demanded by the workers for their own protection. That ballot has been ordered, and through its operation those who toil for individuals or corporations are able to protect their political rights and to use the ballot according to their own judgments. This is a long step toward the securing of the rights of the wage earner, and it should not cease its efforts until the eight hour day is secured.

For some reason the authorities here appear to feel a growing confidence that this effort will be successful.

It is not as a fact of great significance that the proposition is being advanced to have Prince Ching return to Peking as the acting head of the Chinese government. The suggestion is made that the progress of this movement is the international reorganization while the international troops are still in Peking, promising an actual economic and political reform. It does speedily to provide an actual reform, with the nations may treat without further doubt as to its strength and its present problem and put the Chinese question in a fair way to final and satisfactory settlement.

Much may depend upon the attitude of Russia in this matter, and the manner in which she treats this appeal from the Chinese. The suggestion may be a test of the sincerity of her expressed desire to deal with the Chinese government as soon as possible.

Dr. Hill, first assistant secretary of state, returned to Washington today and assumed the duties of acting head of the state department, relieving Mr. Adee, who was performing these duties during the perplexing diplomatic exchanges of recent date.

CHUNG LI IS ARRESTED.

Member of Tsung Li Yamen in Custody.

Peking, Aug. 22.—Chung Li, a member of the tsung li yamen and prefect of the tsung li yamen, was arrested yesterday, who arrested him because of the Chinese official's complicity in the attack on the legation.

Mr. Robert Hart, the director of the legation, stated that he had no objection to the arrest of Chung Li, but that he would not be responsible for the consequences of the arrest.

The arrest of Chung Li is a serious blow to the Chinese government, and it is expected that it will lead to further reforms.

NUMBER 91

had been done to insure an elaborate celebration.

Hundreds of visitors came in over every road. The south and east were particularly well represented. Each road from Salt Lake had large special trains besides having many extra coaches on the regular train. Glenwood park, where the principal festivities took place, admitted by actual count over 8,000 people within its gates.

The horse races, ball games and canyon resorts drew a great many who could not go to the park.

The parade was admitted to be the best that Ogden has seen for ten years. The most noticeable feature connected with the celebration was the entire absence of disorder. Although there were thousands and thousands of workmen from all points of the compass out on a holiday, there were almost no cases of intoxication and no call for extra police.

The members of the Ogden lodge in particular did themselves proud in the entertainment of their fellow lodge members and other guests. The weather was just what was desired, except in the evening, when a hard rain marred the festivities and drove the people into the pavilion on Grandstand, so that the dancing was interfered with. For the same reason the car system was inadequate to carry the crowds back to the city from Glenwood fast enough.

The Parade.

There was delay about the starting of the parade, as the great crowds coming from out of town almost blocked the different organizations from getting in line promptly, even after the trains arrived. There were sixteen lead coaches on the special train from Salt Lake, besides many cars attached to regular trains.

All the way up Twenty-fifth street and along the line of march on Washington avenue were expectant throngs, while every available window was a frame for its full complement of faces.

It was after 11 o'clock when the parade got under the stars.

A platoon of mounted police led the parade, and behind them came a carriage containing Governor Heber, Mr. Wells, with Judge Rolapp and W. L. Magnus.

Next came carriages with members of the city council, city officers, judges of the sporting contests and noted guests from out of town.

The Ogden band was followed by six pieces of apparatus of the Ogden fire department, gallily decked out with flags and bunting.

Secret Orders.

The St. Perkins band followed, with a half block of members of Weber Camp, Woodmen of the World. The Ancient Order of United Workmen were in force, Fidelity and Protection Browning Bros. had a miniature gun that propelled by hidden agencies, and from its turret cannon shots were fired at frequent intervals. Edwin Williams had a display of groceries.

Emmett & Parker's float represented a blacksmith shop in full operation, and a pony installed therein was being fitted with shoes.

Farming machinery and hardware were displayed by the George A. Lowe company, the Western Moline Plow company, and the Co-Op. Wagon and Machine company.

D. Ragon had a grocery exhibit, and B. T. Blodgett showed the products of the Smithfield Roller mills.

Orahood & Watts showed a wagon and carriage factory in operation, and lashed each nationality administrators a session of the city according to its own ideas.

There is a possibility of the Pekin dispatch being somewhat in error as to the identity of the Chinese official who is asking for a reward for murdering fifty-two foreigners.

A dispatch to the Associated Press, dated Che Foo, Aug. 23, said Yu, the governor of the province of Shan Si, is reported to have invited the foreigners in that province to come under his protection. It was added that about Aug. 21 fifty foreigners accepted the invitation and all were massacred.

Probably Yu, the governor of Shan Si, is identical with the Yu Hsien who is referred to in the dispatch from Peking as governor of Shanghai.

PRESSURE ON RUSSIA.

Clear Ask to Change His Position On Chinese Question.

Washington, Sept. 3.—It cannot be learned that there has been any marked advancement of the negotiations between the powers touching the war in Peking. The plain indication is that the powers are acting upon the information conveyed in the last note of the state department, and are bringing about their influence to bear upon Russia to induce her to change her mind as to withdrawing her troops.

For some reason the authorities here appear to feel a growing confidence that this effort will be successful.

It is not as a fact of great significance that the proposition is being advanced to have Prince Ching return to Peking as the acting head of the Chinese government.
